Niels Brab re-elected for an extended 1-year mandate • Board renewed appointments

Brussels, 27th November 2026 — Yesterday, the General Assembly of the Federation of European Securities Exchanges (FESE) re-elected Niels Brab, Chief of Staff and Head of Group Corporate & Regulatory Strategy of Deutsche Börse Group, as the President of FESE for an extended term of one year. Delphine d'Amarzit, Chairman and CEO of Euronext Paris and member of the Managing Board of Euronext Group, was re-elected FESE Vice President for an extended term of one year. Both received unanimous support from FESE members to continue leading the association.

The General Assembly also re-elected Tim Grange from ICE and Nikolaj Kosakewitsch from Nasdaq as FESE Board members for a 3-year term. The FESE Board is composed of 11 members, representing the diversity of FESE's membership across Europe.

The extended mandates come at a crucial time for the exchange sector, amid major policy developments including the Market Integration and Supervision Package.

Mr Brab said: "It is an honour to continue serving as President of FESE. The EU has a real opportunity to harness the full potential of its capital markets and a strong Savings and Investments Union. The key decisions ahead, including on the Market Integration and Supervision Package, will be crucial to boost growth, competitiveness and the broader strategic autonomy in a new geopolitical reality. FESE will continue to advocate for integrated, deep, liquid and transparent capital markets that support and serve this ambition, also in the interest of future generations."

Ms d'Amarzit said: "I am delighted to continue as Vice President of FESE as Europe advances its ambition for more integrated and competitive capital markets. Delivering meaningful integration will require close and constructive dialogue along the industry and with regulators and supervisors to ensure that Europe's future framework supports efficient and well-functioning markets. I look forward to pursuing this dialogue through the association."
